What Is Going On Tonight.
Oleander Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., meets at 8:30 Main street.
Philly Chapter, No. 1, A. M., stated commences at Thaw's Hall.

After being out nearly three-quarters of an hour, the jury trying the case of Mary Kurland vs. Mark P. Jordan, a suit for $1,000 damages, brought by the father of the plaintiff, Anthony Kurland, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff with damages of $150.

The case followed an automobile accident on lower Main street, Aug. 31, 1920, when an automobile driven by the defendant struck the plaintiff (a minor), knocking her down and burning her considerably.

Jury opened at 10 o'clock with Judge Malin on the bench. Nineteen jurors responded to the call. The following were drawn as the jury without any challenges: William H. C. Smith, Arthur J. Clifton, R. Wright, Canterbury, Christian K. Chapin, Merritt, Welch, and W. A. Chapin; Rejected, C. J. Clifton, Hampton, R. P. Fuller, Killig, George H. Call, Scotland, Everett, Killig, Woodcock, E. L. Chamberlain, Clifton, Charles E. Barnham, and Joseph Eastbrook.

Anthony Kurland, father of the plaintiff, the first witness, told of the accident. He said that on the afternoon of August 31, 1920, his child, he said, he had been fully recovered from the injuries received. The child was put on the stand and the father pointed out the place on her body where the injuries were inflicted. He said she was not subject to violent headaches and when asked the body of the child, he said that the child was not subject to violent headaches.

Mr. Jordan in his own defense gave evidence that he was not making over 10 miles an hour and that, seeing Mr. Kurland in the center of the road, he sounded his horn and when the man looked up he continued. When he saw the child, he said he saw the child and he was not making over 10 miles an hour and that, seeing Mr. Kurland in the center of the road, he sounded his horn and when the man looked up he continued. When he saw the child, he said he saw the child and he was not making over 10 miles an hour and that, seeing Mr. Kurland in the center of the road, he sounded his horn and when the man looked up he continued.

CUTICURA HEALS ITCHY SCALP

Child's Head Covered With Sore Eruptions of Watery Nature.

"My daughter suffered with itching and burning of the scalp. At first I thought it was nothing serious but in a few weeks it became developed. She scratched it so that some parts of her head were covered with sore eruptions of a watery nature. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in one month she was healed, after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. E. M. Harris, North Bennington, Vt., March 13, 1921.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are all you need for all toilet uses. Bathe with Soap, soothe with Ointment. Send for Talcum.

O. O. F., Edgar Redman captain, and Y. M. C. A., William Higgins captain. The young men's league will also get under way on the same evening with four teams entered.

Thursday, Nov. 23, was St. Cecilia's day. St. Cecilia being the patron saint of St. Mary's church, Willimantic, a dedication and unveiling of a statue of the saint was held in St. Mary's hall on valley street Tuesday evening. The blessing of the statue and reading of the life of St. Cecilia was by Rev. Horanada Bala. After this walet was played and lunch served. A program of old fashioned songs and stories by each individual was enjoyed.

Something new in the minstrel line is to be offered to the public next month, when St. Mary's junior choir boys present a musical comedy entitled "Hello, Boys". The show is to be held under the auspices of the choir and is directed by Choir Leader Joseph E. Gaudreau. Considerable time has been spent in rehearsing and the novel comedy of the youngsters is expected to be a big success.

The carnival and bazaar of Company G, 10th Infantry, 4th division, opened Wednesday night with a street parade in which Company G of this city and the second platoon of Company G of South Manchester and Battery B of Norwich participated. Music was furnished for the march by the American band and plenty of red and white lights were strung along the route.

The first snowstorm of the winter broke over this city soon after 4 o'clock Wednesday night and at a late hour in the night promised a white Thanksgiving. George McClure and John Nichols shot a gray fox Monday while hunting in Cedar swamp. It was their second kill this season.

Over a hundred couples attended the old fashioned dance given Wednesday night at the town building under the auspices of Oberebuck lodge, No. 18, I. O. O. F. A delightful concert program was presented by the orchestra between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Robbins E. Stoddard, motor chief's command, has notified the local police to enforce the regulations regarding automobile traveling with but one headlight. A majority of night accidents have been caused by the use of but one light, and the department is determined to end this.

Attention has also been called to horse-drawn vehicles without lights, and to bicycles.

Dr. C. H. Girard of Jackson street is building an eight apartment house on his property on Mansfield avenue. The apartments will be modern throughout.

HEBRON

Funeral services for Mrs. George Hanna were held in the Episcopal church Sunday afternoon, Nov. 20, at 2 o'clock. The officiating, Burial was in the family plot in the cemetery. Mrs. Hanna, who was a former resident of Hebron, at the time of her illness and death, was with her daughter, Mrs. Doubleday, of Willimantic.

Thursday a number of women of Hebron and Anson spent a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Melissa Jones of Jones street. The Anson visitors had prepared a very pleasing programme consisting of readings and songs, after which refreshments were served.

The celebration of the 25th anniversary of the C. E. S. held in the Congregational church, Wednesday evening, was successfully carried out. During the supper hour messages from former members were read, also a history of the society, written and read by the secretary, Mrs. W. O. Seynra. After the supper there was an entertainment in the church consisting of readings, by Miss Deese, of Waterbury, which were very pleasing. And singing by James Martin of East Hartford, which was much enjoyed.

CLOSING DISCUSSION OF TAX BILL IN THE SENATE

Washington, Nov. 23.—The tax revision bill became law today, President Harding signing it at the capitol during the closing hour of the special session of congress.

The executive signature was attached within less than an hour after the senate had completed enactment of the measure by agreeing to the conference report by a vote of 30 to 28.

This is the bill which repeals the excess profits and transportation taxes does away with most of the so-called luxury and luxury taxes, reduces individual taxes all along the line and increases the corporation income tax from ten per cent to 12 1/2 per cent.

Now, if any senator, supplanting the measure were entirely satisfied with all of its sections, but they took the view that it contained more good provisions than had ones. The measure is generally conceded to be only a temporary one and the understanding now is that a new revision bill will have to be framed within a year or so.

In the four hours of debate which preceded the senate vote, the bill received little of commendation and much of condemnation. Every senator who spoke and there were nearly a dozen—had some complaint to make, while several sharply criticized the bill as a whole.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, inveighed against a system under which, he said, managers of the house and senate, meeting in secret without their individual votes going on record, could overturn the expressed will of either branch of the congress.

He warned that if this system was continued there would be a revolution in the country. Other senators on both sides disagreed as to the result pictured, but agreed that the system was faulty.

Explaining that he would vote for the bill because he believed some of its administrative features were an improvement over some of those in existing law, Senator Smoot said he agreed with many of the criticisms aimed at the bill but not with all of them. Because some were "not made in good faith."

"Turning to the democratic side he said: "It's the same baby, dressed in pink instead of red." He was referring to the present tax law which was sponsored by the democrats.

The surrender by the senate conferees on the senate amendment proposing an increased tax on whiskey was criticized by several senators, particularly William E. Borah, republican, Idaho, who said the conferees in agreeing to the original house provisions "had thrown away $30,000,000 in needed revenue."

Declaring that the bill was unsatisfactory to many republican leaders because it carried the fifty per cent maximum tax rate, Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, said it was the purpose of the majority managers to keep that tax revision until they could "bring relief to men with great incomes." He also assailed the conferees for writing in a provision limiting to 12 1/2 per cent the tax rate on gains from the sales by individuals of capital assets, declaring this would enable taxpayers receiving large incomes to escape the sur-tax.

DECISION CONCERNING THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Boston, Nov. 23.—The supreme court today handed down its decision in the litigation concerning the governing boards of the Christian Science church and the publications. It held that the report of the trustees of the Christian Science Society, which was submitted to the board of trustees of the Christian Science church, was not binding on the church.

The decision in this case was a landmark in the history of the church. It held that the church was not bound by the report of the trustees of the Christian Science Society, which was submitted to the board of trustees of the Christian Science church.
